BIEBS' BROTHERLY LOVE

Justin Bieber kisses his brother Jaxon — eliciting even more screams from the hordes who stood outside MuchMusic headquarters — as he poses with Carly Rae Jepsen on the red carpet during the MuchMusic Video Awards in Toronto on Sunday. Bieber, set to close the annual awards bash, was clearly the main attraction. Fans clutched cardboard cutouts of his head, waved marriage proposals hastily scrawled on gigantic signs, and wore headbands with his name on them. CHRIS YOUNG/THE CANADIAN PRESS

Weather. Environment Canada advises people to avoid outdoor activities when humidex is above 40

It's about to get sticky. Environment Canada has released a special warning for hot and humid weather this week, with temperatures to hit the mid-30s. But it's going to feel even hotter.

A blanket of warm air is expected to settle over southern Ontario Monday night, and while the temperatures will stay in the 30s, Environment Canada warned the humidex will hit 40 and above. Monday will see a high of 28 C in Toronto, inching to 33 C on Tuesday and the week's high of 34 C on Wednesday. In this weather, Environment Canada advises people to stay inside or in the shade, to forgo physical activity outside and to drink plenty of water. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Guilty plea.
Ex-Mazda dealership to pay $10K in penalties

An Ontario court has slapped a former Mazda auto dealership in Orangeville with $10,000 in penalties after the store pleaded guilty to committing "an unconscionable representation" by selling a car to a woman for more than $25,000 above its real value.

A judge with the Ontario Court of Justice fined Orangeville Mazda $8,000 plus about $2,000 in victim compensation costs on Friday following entry of a guilty plea by a dealership lawyer to the charge under the Consumer Protection Act.

Orangeville Mazda and two employees faced charges of "engaging in unfair practice by making an unconscionable representation," in March 2010 after an investigation by the Ontario Motor Vehicle Industry Council, which regulates new and used car dealers.

Sale documents showed the dealership had sold an unemployed woman living on a disability pension a 2010 Mazda sedan for about $66,000 including taxes and a trade-in car. But the probe found she should have paid less than $41,000.

The council's investigation indicated the dealership under president Sunny Bains approved a seven-year loan with a final payment of more than $7,000 when the woman did not qualify because of her personal financial status. Furthermore, the dealership sold several extra products and services for more than double normal prices.

Mazda Canada quickly terminated the dealership's sales and service agreement for breaching the automaker's business practices in the deal and other incidents. The move effectively shut down the store's operations. Mazda also unwound the deal with the woman and compensated her.

Cause still unknown.
Saturday's Downsview Park incident killed Radiohead drum tech, injured three others

The provincial Ministry of Labour remained tight-lipped Sunday on details surrounding a stage collapse at Downsview Park that killed a drum technician for Radiohead and forced the cancellation of a sold-out show.

A spokesperson for the British band identified the drum technician as Scott Johnson, 33, of Doncaster, England. Johnson also toured with another U.K. band Keane.

As three inspectors and two engineers from the ministry scoured the scene Sunday, it remained unclear what caused the massive structure to crumble, crushing Johnson and injuring three others.

Johnson was pronounced dead at the scene after sustaining what police said was a "heavy, crushing injury."

Ministry spokesperson Matt Blajer said the investigation is "fairly complex" but could not confirm the names of any involved companies.

Meanwhile, industry professionals are questioning the circumstances leading up to the fatal accident, which occurred on an otherwise bright and sunny day, with only light winds.

Preparing a stage involves several companies, including stage and roof builders — which can be contracted by the event promoter, in this case Live Nation — and lighting and sound firms, often provided by the band.

Stage and scaffolding builders hire and work in concert with a structural engineer, who assesses how much weight the roof can hold. The so-called "load factor" is then presented to the promoter, said Ted MacDonald, of Audio Visual Methods, a Toronto production equipment company.

Blajer told the Star stage blueprints signed and approved by a "professional engineer" have been provided to investigators. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Methadone clinic debate heats up

Corso Italia. Police say there is no link between crime and facility operating in neighbourhood for the past 15 years

A muscular man berated a woman on a busy corner in the west-end's Corso Italia neighbourhood on a recent Monday afternoon.

"Nate Dogg is my boy, he's my boy," the man yelled, inches from the woman's face. She was confused and afraid. He took off, his shirt unbuttoned, and stormed into the public library across the street where he sat down and cooled off.

It is unpleasant incidents like these that have divided residents of the area surrounding St. Clair Ave. W. and Dufferin St. The methadone clinic, which treats addicts trying to kick an opiate habit, is to blame for this type of behaviour, says area Councillor Cesar Palacio.

"This clinic is an uncontrollable operation that is getting out of hand and they aren't taking responsibility for what's going on outside," Palacio said, citing aggressive panhandling, loitering and an influx of needles at the nearby McDonald's, which has installed a sharps container in the washrooms.

Yet Palacio's views run counter to the clinic's operator and police monitoring the area.

"He's linking unrelated civic problems with our clinic," said Dr. Robert Cooper, who runs the clinic in question.

Toronto police say there hasn't been an increase in crime in the area near the clinic. "There have been some crimes in that area, but to say they're related to the clinic is unfounded," said Staff Sgt. Mike Matic, with the community response unit of 13 Division.

Palacio said he is simply voicing the concerns of the community. He has set up a petition to send to the province in an effort to get funding capped at the clinic, thereby decreasing the amount of foot traffic the clinic creates.

Cooper said two-thirds of his patients live within a six-block radius of the area. "The reality is people coming into treatment find gainful employment and are contributing to society," Cooper said. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

"This is an upscale neighbourhood.... We don't want people with tattoos high on drugs walking around this area."

Jeff Gillan, Corso Italia Business Improvement Area spokesperson.

More crime by corner store

A recent study, published last month in the journal Addiction, examined crime near 13 methadone clinics in Baltimore over two years and compared the data with crime near hospitals and convenient stores. They found crime was more likely to occur around convenient stores.

National day of action on refugee health care cuts

On Monday, demonstrations in 10 Canadian cities plan to demand the federal government reverse cuts to refugee health care, which take effect June 30.

In Toronto, a rally will be held at 1 p.m. outside the immigration office on St. Clair Ave. E.

Many asylum seekers will see much of their health coverage — from vaccinations to lab tests, diagnostic and ambulance services — gone unless their health condition puts public health at risk. Some of them also stand to lose pharmaceutical care, dentistry, vision care and access to devices such as walkers and wheelchairs.

Immigration Minister Jason Kenney says the changes will save Ottawa $100 million and discourage "unfounded" refugees from taking advantage of Canada's generosity.

This has been met with growing opposition from the health-care sector concerned about the potential impact on the health of refugees and Canadians. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Kayak.com user stumbles on others' personal information

He was trying to clarify a line on his credit card bill, but ended up accessing scores of strangers' personal information.

Kevin Hunt travels whenever he finds time off and a good deal. So when his credit statement listed Kayak.com, he went to the travel booking site to see which trip the charge was for.

The site allows people to find reservation details by searching their last name and the last four digits of their credit card. When Hunt keyed in his information, he found his hotel booking for an upcoming trip to Vermont. But he also found bookings for people named Hunt in Oklahoma and Massachusetts, complete with their home addresses, phone numbers and emails, as well as credit card expiry dates.

"It's scary," said Hunt, a Markham elementary school teacher. "You can see where someone lives and when they'll be out of town. It's like an invitation."

He'd used an American Express credit card, which often end in numbers between 1001 and 1009. Typing those numbers alongside common names like Smith, he was able to find scores of strangers' personal information.

"I can't believe no one's pointed this out before," Hunt said.

Kayak.com quickly closed the search feature on its website Saturday. When contacted by the Star, co-founder Paul English said the site was reviewing how many people were affected. "No credit card or social security info was released," he said in an email Sunday. "There was some limited exposure to contact info."

Matt Hunt of Haverhill, Mass., was one of the results listed in Kevin Hunt's search. "It's pretty simple; that's just way too much information to be exposed to someone with such a limited amount of information," he said, surprised a Canadian newspaper was calling about his Hampton Inn booking from April. Obit. T.O. jazz icon dies before getting honoured

Doug Cole, the founder of Toronto's jazz scene in the '50s, has died just days before he was to receive the Queen's Diamond Jubilee medal in honour of his contributions.

Cole founded Toronto's first jazz club, George's Spaghetti House, at Dundas and Sherbourne Sts. in 1956 at a time when jazz wasn't that popular in the city. The venue eventually took off, attracting some of the best jazz musicians in the country. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Rodney King dead at age 47

A symbol. King came to represent the anti-police-brutality movement

Rodney King, the black motorist whose 1991 videotaped beating by Los Angeles police officers was the touchstone for one of the most destructive race riots in U.S. history, was found at the bottom of his swimming pool early Sunday and later pronounced dead. He was 47.

King's fiancée called police at 5:25 a.m. to report that she found him in the pool at their home in Rialto, Calif., police Lt. Dean Hardin said.

Officers arrived to find King in the deep end of the pool and pulled him out.

King was unresponsive, and officers began resuscitation efforts until paramedics arrived. King was taken to the hospital, where he was pronounced dead at 6:11 a.m..

Police Capt. Randy De Anda said King had been by the pool throughout the early morning and had been talking to his fiancée, who was inside the home at the time. A statement from police said the preliminary investigation indicates a drowning, with no signs of foul play. De Anda said there were no alcoholic beverages or paraphernalia found near the pool.

Authorities didn't identify the fiancée. King earlier said he was engaged to Cynthia Kelley, one of the jurors in the civil-rights case that gave King $3.8 million in damages.

De Anda said King had another visitor that night but that person had left earlier. A neighbour said that around 3 a.m. she heard music and people talking and what sounded like someone who was very emotional. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Background

The 1992 riots were set off by the acquittals of the officers who beat King. The riots lasted three days and left 55 people dead, more than 2,000 injured and swaths of L.A. on fire.

Syria. UN calls for evacuation of women, children in hardest-hit areas

The head of the UN observers' mission in Syria demanded Sunday that warring parties allow the evacuation of women, children, elderly and sick people endangered by the fighting in the besieged city of Homs and other combat zones.

Maj. Gen. Robert Mood said the observers had been trying for the past week to extricate civilians and the wounded from the central city of Homs but had failed because neither government troops nor the rebels were willing to hold their fire.

"The parties must reconsider their position and allow women, children, the elderly and the injured to leave conflict zones without any preconditions and ensure their safety," Mood said in a statement.

Protesters burn a banner of Bashar Assad, his brother Maher and Vladimir Putin in Lebanon. MOHAMMED ZAATARI/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

UN observers have been trying for the past week to bring out more than 1,000 families and dozens of wounded trapped in Homs by heavy shelling of rebel-held areas for the past week. The offensive is part of a broader push by regime forces to regain rebel-held villages and towns.

On Saturday, the UN said the 300 observers based in Syria were suspending all missions due to safety concerns, but the monitors said they were remaining in Damascus. A UN official said some observers had left for Homs, hoping to evacuate civilians. The official said the plan was to arrange a brief ceasefire during which civilians would have been evacuated from rebel-held areas of Homs. He said the mission was approved by the Syrian government. SCANDINAVIA'S #1 SELLING CHILI FAT BURNER

Here is your new powerful and clinically proven fat burning spice: Chili

Burn calories - burn!

The Scandinavian company New Nordic has launched the new Chili Burn™ tablet you need to lose your belly fat. Here are 4 compelling reasons to run to your pharmacy and pick up a box of Chili Burn tablets:

- IT BURNS FAT AND CALORIES
- CLINICALLY PROVEN INGREDIENTS
- IT PROMOTES A LEAN BODY
- STOMACH FRIENDLY COMPOSITION

Ruth burned away her belly-fat and fits into her wedding dress again!

Ruth feels great! She actually got back into her wedding dress of 37 years ago, after taking Chili Burn!

Ruth's story

"After having 5 children, I had a hard time burning that extra fat. As the years progressed, I never viewed myself as being overweight, but I always struggled with fat on my stomach. At 55, I found myself constantly dressing to disguise my belly, staying away from tight clothes and the like.

People noticed my new figure

I read about Chili Burn in a magazine and thought I'd give it a try. I purchased the supplement at my local pharmacy and started taking it in July 2011. Now, 6 months later I have lost my belly fat and people really notice it. They all want to know my secret, so I recommend Chili Burn to family, friends, and acquaintances and really encourage them to try it out. This product will suit anyone who would like to burn fat with natural ingredients and be side effect free. I highly recommend it."

Ruth Veldstra, Hagersville, Ontario

Don't be fooled by other products:

Look for the New Nordic silvertree logo. All fat burners are not alike and Chili Burn is the only one with this composition. It's imported from Scandinavia.

Big homecoming for icon Suu Kyi

Prisoner of conscience. Suu Kyi to return to Oxford after 24 years of house arrest

Myanmar opposition leader Aung San Suu Kyi visits the Nobel Peace Center in Oslo, Norway, Saturday.
CATHAL MCNAUGHTON/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Before Aung San Suu Kyi was a prisoner of conscience and a political icon, she inhabited a world of university libraries and English suburbs.

The leader of Myanmar's democracy movement spent years in Oxford with her English academic husband and their two sons. She left in 1988 to care for her sick mother, thinking she would be gone for weeks. Almost a quarter of a century later, she is about to return for the first time.

Suu Kyi begins a weeklong trip to Britain today as part of a European tour. Her itinerary includes talks with Prime Minister David Cameron, an address to Parliament and a meeting with Prince Charles.

But the most bittersweet moment will likely be her homecoming to Oxford, where on Wednesday the 66-year-old will finally accept the honorary doctorate she was awarded in 1993, while she was under house arrest in Yangon.

Her children are now grown and her beloved husband, Michael Aris, is dead.

Egypt. Islamists, military claim power after vote

The Muslim Brotherhood declared Monday that its candidate, Mohammed Morsi, won the presidential election, even as the military handed themselves the lion's share of power over the new president, enshrining their hold on the state and sharpening the possibility of confrontation with the Islamists.

With parliament dissolved and martial law effectively in force, the generals made themselves the country's lawmakers, gave themselves control over the budget and will determine who writes the permanent constitution that will define the country's future.

Greece. Second election favours staying in euro

Fears of an imminent Greek exit from Europe's joint currency receded Sunday after the conservative New Democracy party came first in a critical election and probailout parties won enough seats to form a joint government.

As central banks stood ready to intervene in case of financial turmoil, Greece held its second national election in six weeks.

With one party advocating ripping up Greece's multibillion-euro bailout deal, the election was seen as a vote on whether Greece should stay in the 17-nation joint euro currency.

Edmonton police investigators were in Langley, B.C., examining evidence and interviewing triple-homicide suspect Travis Baumgartner, the accused in a armoured-car robbery.

Five homicide detectives and three forensic specialists made the flight Saturday night. Baumgartner, 21, was detained by U.S. Customs and Border Protection officials as he attempted to cross into the United States at Lynden, Wash., south of Abbottsford, B.C., on Saturday. He was then arrested by RCMP. Approximately $330,000 was found in Baumgartner's vehicle, while his company-issued gun and body armour have yet to be recovered.

Baumgartner, a security guard for the amoured-car company, faces three charges of first-degree murder and one charge of attempted murder.

Police probing sisters' deaths

A maid found two sisters from Quebec dead inside their hotel room on a popular resort island in southern Thailand, police confirmed Sunday.

Officials say the women did not appear to have been murdered and their belongings had not been taken.

Police were working to determine the cause of death of Noemi Belanger, 26, and her sister Audrey Belanger, 20, whose bodies were found Friday at the Phi Phi Palm Residence Hotel on Phi Phi Island, said police Lt. Col. Jongrak Pimthong.

"Police determined they were dead for about 24 hours prior to that and only found a lot of vomit in the room," he said.

The vomit, along with traces of blood on the women's face, could be signs of a toxic reaction, police said. "There (were) neither signs of fighting nor robbery, but we found many kinds of over-the-counter drugs." THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

You might be Overpaying for Car Insurance

There are ways to save without impacting coverage

Each insurance company charges a different rate to insure the same driver with the same exact coverage – and these rates vary considerably. By not shopping around for car insurance, you could be paying hundreds, or even thousands, of dollars more than you should. Insurers use their own claims experience to determine their rates and each company will have a different history with each driving profile and car combination. This could mean that you are overpaying for car insurance – and with so many insurance companies, odds are you may not be currently insured with the company that offers the best rate for your driving profile.

The car you drive, where you live, where you drive, and your driving record are all factors that may affect your insurance rate. While most of these items are under your control, others such as the insurance company's experience and corresponding rates are not. One insurance company may charge more for being insured in your postal code, while others may charge more for insuring sport cars. Understanding all of these considerations and knowing that each insurance company charges different rates will help you find the best car insurance rate that suits your needs.

The best way to save on your car insurance is to compare your insurance rate to those offered by other companies. But it can be extremely time consuming to compare the rates individually and brokers only offer rates from 4 to 5 different companies. Web sites like InsuranceHotline.com make it easy to compare your rate against the lowest available rates within their network of over 30 insurance companies.

It's not just about saving you money. Wait, it is.

Visit InsuranceHotline.com today and experience a fast, free, and easy service that works for your wallet.

Church attacks. Religious tensions heighten after 21 killed in Nigeria

Three suicide-bomb attacks on churches rocked the northern Nigerian state of Kaduna on Sunday, killing at least 21 people and wounding about 100, officials said, inciting protests in a state that has been strained by religious tensions.

The first two blasts took place within minutes of each other and targeted two churches in the city of Zaria, said Kaduna State police chief Mohammed Abubakar Jinjiri. A third blast hit a church in the city of Kaduna about half an hour later, Jinjiri said.

Jinjiri said security at the churches prevented the bombers from ramming explosive-laden cars into the buildings filled with worshippers. "If not for security, there would have been many more casualties," he said.

Violence against Christian houses of worship is on the rise in Nigeria, prompting churches in the country's predominantly Muslim north to boost their security in a nation of more than 160 million people almost equally divided between Muslims and Christians.

The Nigerian Red Cross said Sunday that young people had started protesting in Kaduna, leading the state government to impose a 24-hour curfew.

Billows of smoke could be seen over a mosque in a predominantly Christian part of the city. People had mounted illegal roadblocks and were harassing motorists. A motorcycle rider in that same neighbourhood lay seriously hurt and bleeding by the roadside. Motorcyclists are often presumed to be Muslim and become easy targets during reprisal attacks by Christians.

Jinjiri declined to say who police suspected might be responsible, though a radical Islamist sect known as Boko Haram has claimed similar church attacks in the past.

Swedish zookeeper killed by wolf pack

Reason for attack unknown. Such incidents are rare but not all that surprising, expert says

A zoo worker in Sweden's largest zoo has died after being attacked by wolves in their enclosure, media reports said on Sunday.

Mats Höggren, animal director of the Kolmarden Wildlife Park near Stockholm, said the experienced 30-year-old woman was by herself in the pen when the attack occurred on Sunday morning, and that zoo workers often enter the area alone.

The enclosure reportedly contains eight wolves. Park workers realized something had gone wrong when their colleague failed to maintain radio contact.

The Aftonbladet daily quoted Hoggren as saying zoo workers and paramedics entered the pen after forming a human chain and arming one person, but it was too late.

An animal caretaker was attacked and killed on Sunday by a pack of wolves in their enclosure at the Kolmarden Wildlife Park south of Stockholm.

"Such an event is very rare, but it can happen. Animals living in zoos aren't afraid of humans and accidents can happen," wolf expert Olof Lidberg, told Swedish press agency TT.

Arbitrator sides with Air Canada

Collective agreement. The deal maintains the defined-benefit pension plan for current employees but includes pension changes for new hires

A long-standing labour dispute between Air Canada and its unionized repair and ramp crews came to an end Sunday when a federal arbitrator sided with the country's largest carrier and selected its final offer to establish a collective agreement.

The new five-year deal marks an end to 14 months of negotiations and mediated talks between the Montreal-based airline and the International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers.

It also means there is only one of the airline's major unions that is still without a collective agreement. The airline's 3,000 pilots are in the process of working through their dispute with a federal arbitrator.

The threat of a lockout of pilots, and a strike notice from the Machinists, had prompted the federal government to intervene with back-to-work legislation in both disputes.

The deal imposed by arbitrator Michel Picher also contributes to the reduction of the pension deficit and establishes a protocol for the sustainability of the pension plan, taking into account any short-term funding pressures on the company, a statement from the airline said.

Tough toys. Mega Brands to battle Lego for top spot

A battle could be shaping up in the construction-toy aisles as Canadian toy maker Mega Brands takes a run at industry leader Lego.

Mega Brands CEO Marc Bertrand said Friday the company has the products to expand the construction category, the toy industry's fastest-growing segment.

Much of the hope is centred on courting girls with the introduction of building sets based on the iconic Barbie brand early next year. The idea is that while boys are known to build and crash their creations, girls prefer to build and accessorize. The new Barbie set includes miniature dolls, a whole suburb with a pink dream house and beach house that can be assembled, along with a pink car.

Toy analyst Gerrick Johnson of BMO Capital Markets said Mega Brands' fresh brands give it an opportunity to gain market share from Lego, which sells box sets craved particularly by boys. THE CANADIAN PRESS

TO DEAL WITH GUN VIOLENCE, TAKE AIM AT POVERTY

URBAN COMPASS
Matt Elliott
toronto@metronews.ca

In the wake of the brazen shooting at the Eaton Centre earlier this month — leaving two dead, several injured and a city badly shaken — politicians and pundits have started pushing various quick fixes for gun violence in Toronto. Citing statistics showing an increase in shooting incidents year-over-year, too many are quick to draw parallels to the 'summer of the gun' in 2005.

It's led to a lot of reactionary melodrama.

On one side, you have calls for more tough-on-crime legislation with harsher penalties for violent crimes, including mandatory sentences.

The federal government is a big fan of this kind of thing. But as a violence-prevention strategy it comes up short: people engaged in crime aren't weighing the potential legal penalties in their heads when they reach for the gun in their pocket.

By that point, it's already too late.

And so there's the other argument, which says we should focus on reducing the number of guns on our streets, getting them out of the hands of would-be shooters.

Coun. Adam Vaughan made headlines last week with a push in that direction.

He wants to look at banning the sale of bullets.

Vaughan's argument didn't go over well.

Mayor Rob Ford immediately opposed the idea, noting concern that a ban would inconvenience the city's nebulous population of hunters.

Other councillors more sensibly pointed out that most of the guns and bullets used in crime are obtained illegally anyway, smuggled in across the border.

The truth is that both of these slapdash responses are off target.

Yes, we need to ensure that our court system is providing fair sentences that balance justice with public safety. And it's also true that there would be some value in looking at the city's — if not the country's — current regulations on gun ownership and purchasing.

But politicians can't focus only on hasty regulations and laws when one of the major drivers of violent crime is staring them in the face.

Torontonians have got to wake up to their city's poverty problem.

New statistics from Social Planning Toronto report that nearly one-in-four of us live in poverty.

In areas most afflicted by gangs, guns, drugs and violent crime, that number is even higher: 37 per cent in the ward around Jane and Finch, 40 per cent near Regent Park.

The figures are mind-blowing.

And the correlation between high poverty areas and violence is impossible to ignore.

This city can talk endlessly about sentencing guidelines, policing, anti-gang strategies, gun control and other measures, but the conversation is incomplete if no one's looking at the root issues: things like housing, education and unemployment.

If we really we want to get serious about addressing gun violence, then it's way past time for Toronto to finally take aim at poverty.

Let's get tough on poverty

But politicians can't focus only on hasty regulations and laws when one of the major drivers of violent crime is staring them in the face. Torontonians have got to wake up to their city's poverty problem.

Rainforest frog woos photog with fungus

Is this delightful little frog actually a handsome prince in disguise? This sprightly red-eyed tree frog looks as if he is offering a flower to court someone. Photographer Megan Lorenz, who took this snap deep in the Costa Rican rainforest, explains to Metro the illusion behind the amusing scene.

METRO WORLD NEWS

Megan Lorenz, 36
ANGIE MCKAIG

Lorenz on tree frog

- Fungus. "We (captured) a number of red-eyed tree frogs for this photo session (as they are normally nocturnal) before letting them go. The session was short as I didn't want to negatively impact the frogs — they are delicate and have sensitive skin. This frog jumped onto the piece of wood I'd been using to photograph poison dart frogs and briefly grabbed onto the fungi to steady himself. That allowed me just enough time for a quick burst of shots before he jumped onto another plant and tucked himself away on a leaf. When I looked at the image later I was ecstatic — it looked as if it was presenting me with a beautiful red bloom. I was so happy to find that the focus was perfect and I'd been able to capture such a special moment."
- Challenges. "The thick rainforest canopy creates low-light situations and light with a lot of contrast, which makes it difficult to get a nice even exposure. When taking macro photographs, even the slightest movement on the part of the photographer (or subject) causes blur and this is something I avoid by using a sturdy tripod, shutter release cable and appropriate camera settings so I can get as much detail in the subject as possible."

Animal instinct

Zoo animals remain hot at the box office. Singing stars and Adam Sandler are not. Ben Stiller and his voice co-stars of Madagascar 3: Europe's Most Wanted held on to the No. 1 spot again with $35.5 million for the animated sequel's second weekend. Studio estimates Sunday put Ridley Scott's sci-fi adventure Prometheus at No. 2 again with $20.2 million. Madagascar 3 and Prometheus held off two underachieving newcomers. The star-studded musical Rock of Ages flopped at No. 3 with $15.1 million. Sandler's That's My Boy bombed with $13 million, the worst showing for one of his broad comedies since the mid-1990s.

Five great films from 1987

With the opening of Rock of Ages this weekend, we look back at some films that evoke the retro spirit of that heady era captured by the rock 'n' roll musical

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Full Metal Jacket

One of Stanley Kubrick's best, this Vietnam War drama lulls you in with its humour in the first half, then blows you away with its brutality in the second. Kubrick follows a group of Marines through boot-camp training, under the verbally abusive but hilariously profane watch of their demanding drill sergeant, played by R. Lee Ermey in the persona that would become his signature. Full Metal Jacket is raw and visceral in its details, yet surreal and dreamlike in its mood. And it provides an early glimpse of the intensity and immersion we've come to expect from Vincent D'Onofrio, committing himself completely here to the role of slow-witted private Gomer Pyle.

Raising Arizona

Found on the all-time favourites list of a few movie fanatics, this Coen brothers film is a great example of the off-kilter vibe that arose from their brief collaboration with then-cinematographer Barry Sonnenfeld. At times, this screwball comic romance feels like a live-action cartoon, with its odd characters and larger-than-life predicaments. The baby point-of-view shots alone give the movie both a playful energy and a genuine feeling of danger. It's silly and extremely stylized but it also works in its smaller moments, as evidenced by Nicolas Cage's quietly unhinged performance as a philosophical career criminal who promises to go straight and secure a baby for his yearning police-officer wife.

Moonstruck

Many have enjoyed the balance that director Norman Jewison and Oscar-winning screenwriter John Patrick Shanley strike here. This is a movie that's unabashedly old-fashioned and sweet but with a no-nonsense, slightly shaggy streak. Everyone feels what they feel so intensely, they must be under some sort of magical spell. And yet the film affectionately teases them for being the fools that they've become. Here's Cage again as a man full of impulses, driven by the passion he feels for the luminous Cher, who tries not to love him back because she's engaged to marry Cage's brother (Danny Aiello). Moonstruck is a romantic comedy for people who don't usually like romantic comedies.

Less Than Zero

A lurid depiction of the drugs and decadence of the time. Everyone on the other side of the hill from the San Fernando Valley was rich and sophisticated and stylishly tormented — at least through novelist Bret Easton Ellis' eyes. This early Robert Downey Jr. performance showed glimmers of the quick wit and emotional depth that continue to be his trademarks. Ed Lachmann's cinematography made sunny L.A. seem dangerous and seamy. And the film featured a great soundtrack, including The Bangles' insanely catchy cover of Hazy Shade of Winter and the LL Cool J classic Goin' Back to Cali.

Dirty Dancing

This is a nostalgic choice, admittedly. One could include something artsier and more respected like The Last Emperor, which won nine Oscars, including best picture. But looking back, which film left the most enduring mark on the culture, on the era? Of the five listed here, it's Dirty Dancing, far and away. Crowd-pleasing with an infectious energy and a vivid sense of place, this became an international phenomenon, and it's easy to see why. It's just a fun movie with great music and choreography. Jennifer Grey and Patrick Swayze are lovely together, even though on paper they make absolutely no sense as a couple. And we all learned that nobody puts Baby in a corner.

Sorkin returns to prime-time with HBO drama The Newsroom

New TV series.
Hollywood heavyweight back with incisive look at the inner workings of the broadcast media

scene@metronews.ca

For actor Jeff Daniels, working on HBO's latest series The Newsroom has been nothing short of a major holiday.

"Every two weeks the new script would come in and (co-star) Emily Mortimer and I would say it was like Christmas morning," said the star recently in New York about the workplace drama premiering June 24th on HBO Canada. "I never changed a word, never questioned anything, I always said thank you and (read dialogue) word-for-word."

It shouldn't necessarily be shocking that The Newsroom scripts were a dream come true for Daniels. After all, created and written by Hollywood heavyweight Aaron Sorkin (The West Wing), The Newsroom explores the machinations of mainstream media — in particular, a bombastic but highly-respected cable news anchor.

"There was talk of (former MSNBC journalist) Keith Olbermann," said Daniels of the rumoured inspiration for his character. "(But) there are a lot of angry Americans out there, and I think if it's based on anything, it's based on one of those people who just happens to be sitting in a cable news chair."

In the style of classic movies like Broadcast News or Network, The Newsroom also embraces the trappings of conventional cable television — a sentimental experiment given Sorkin's most recent success delving into the digital world with his Oscar-winning film The Social Network.

"People are nostalgic about not necessarily broadcast news the way it was done before. They're nostalgic about someone telling them the truth without spinning it," explained Daniels. "I've said that people are going to watch this and they're going to either jump out of their Barcalounger going, 'Hell, yeah' or they're going to jump out of their Barcalounger and throw a beer at the TV screen — and I think that's exactly what Aaron wants."

Quoted

- The Newsroom star Jeff Daniels on the show's potential: "I think worst-case, it'll be a good TV series, but I think it has a real chance to be something that matters, that's important. Something that makes people think, that challenges them."
- Shooting in a real newsroom: "(The set) was so authentic, you really thought you could put a satellite on top and broadcast to the world," Daniels said. "It also tells you HBO is serious about this, that they are pouring the money into it."

Beckham circus comes to Vancouver

KATE WEBB
Metro Vancouver

Hundreds of fans waited for hours at Holt Renfrew in downtown Vancouver Friday to catch a glimpse of former Spice Girl Victoria Beckham after her plane was delayed by a lengthy customs search.

When Ms. Beckham finally arrived at 2:30 p.m., two hours after she was scheduled to appear, she posed for two-and-a-half minutes and then left as quickly as she came.

Courtney Hunter, who drove in from Langley and took the day off work just to see the waifish star, arrived before 11 a.m., but didn't seem to mind the wait.

"I've loved her since the Spice Girls but I'm a huge fashion fan, I went to school for that, so she's one of my style icons," she said of the visit.

"I know she's just going to be here for a few minutes, but it's kind of cool just to say that you saw her."

Beckham flew in to promote her namesake fashion line, which is carried only at Holt Renfrew in Canada.

More he said, she said in Drake vs. Brown battle

More details are emerging about the alleged altercation between Chris Brown and Drake at a New York club last week, according to TMZ.

Drake's camp has insisted the singer wasn't involved.

A released statement read, "Drake did not participate in any wrongdoing of any kind last night at W.i.P. He was on his way out of the club when the altercation began. He did not engage in any activity which resulted in injury to person or damage to property."

But Brown's lawyer claims to have evidence that Drake and his entourage were the aggressors.

So just what is that evidence?

A source claims a note exists that was sent from Drake's table to Brown's table reading, "I am f—ing the love of your life."

The alleged note refers to Brown's former and Drake's current lover, Rihanna.

Dads play a major role in the movie What to Expect When You're Expecting. They are also increasingly staying at home off-screen. LIONSGATE, MELISSA MOSELEY/ THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The gap between at-work and at-home dads

Debate. It isn't quite mommy wars, but there are issues for men who stay home with their children

Whether they say it out loud or acknowledge it at all, that work-home divide traditionally reserved for the mommy wars can also rear between dads who go off to the office every day and the kind in the trenches with the kids.

There are bound to be rifts, given the growing league of dads staying home at least part-time. But do the paths of work dads and home dads intertwine enough to make them care quite so deeply as the ladies? How exactly are they perceived by each other?

"To be a stay-at-home dad requires a lot of confidence in who you are," said Paxton Helms, 41, in Washington.

He became one about four years ago, when his daughter was three months old. A son followed and he now takes part-time contracts as an international development consultant, with flexible hours. "The strangest thing that ever happened to me as a (stay-at-home dad) was riding on the Metro with both my kids and a guy asking me, 'So where's Mom?' I couldn't even think why in the world somebody would be asking me that question, so I couldn't even muster an answer," he said.

SUSPICION OVER WIVES, LAYOFFS

Other at-home dads worry about jealousy from working brethren. Or suspicion that they're out of work. And dads on both sides of the divide report the occasional cold shoulder.

"It seems that they try to avoid me or don't want to talk about what life is like for them," said dad-of-one Donald DeLong, 55, a Bloomfield Township, Mich., an attorney who acknowledges a "deeply rooted need to work and earn a living."

"When I do talk to them, the topics stay guy-safe. That is, sports, cars. After all we're both still guys."

Other at-home dads, those by choice or pushed out of the job market, said they've endured some snark, but they consider it more of a dad-on-dad discomfort than a divide.

Martin Weckerlein, 33, is among them. He simply doesn't have the time to care.

"When I'm with other dads who are my age, they tend to be pretty accepting and even curious as to how that works that we can afford me staying home, what I do during the day with the kids, and they say it must be nice to have that time," he said.

THE STEREOTYPES

Yes, Mr. Mom comes up, the newest iteration in the shape of Chris Rock and his goofy band of dads with infants strapped to their chests in the movie What to Expect When You're Expecting.

"I hate that phrase Mr. Mom. I can't imagine my wife going into the office and saying, 'Hi everyone, it's Mrs. Dad,"' said Dan Zevin, a humourist, at-home dad to two.

The number of at-home dads who are primary caregivers for their children reached nearly two million in 2010, or one in 15 fathers, according to one estimate. Al Watts, president of the National At-Home Dad Network, believes a more accurate count is about seven millions. That amounts to one-third of married fathers in the U.S.

Most, he said, want to be there, as opposed to the kind who never thought about it until the axe fell on their careers. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Statistics

A shift in the Canadian family fabric

Figures from Statistics Canada reveal a steady increase in the number of stay-at-home dads in recent years.

Last year, the majority of the 2.7 million couples with at least one child under 16 living at home were dual-earners. But one in five of those families had one employed parent and one stay-at-home parent.

Of those, 12 per cent, or about 61,000 families, saw the man stay home. That was up from 10 per cent in 2006, seven per cent in 1996 and four per cent in 1986.

Take your taste buds to Thailand with Pad Thai Salad

This recipe goes great with picnic fare. THE CANADIAN PRESS H/O

The noodles, chicken and vegetables in this Easy Pad Thai Salad make it as natural as a tasty main course for a picnic.

If you're looking to trim some of the sodium from the dressing, use sodium-reduced soy sauce.

1. Soak noodles for 5 minutes in enough boiling water to cover. Drain and rinse under cold water until cool; drain well.

2. Meanwhile, whisk lime juice with ketchup, oil, soy sauce and sugar.

3. Toss drained noodles with chicken, bean sprouts, carrot, celery and red pepper. Add dressing and toss to coat.

4. Toss cilantro with green onion and peanuts, if using; sprinkle over salad just before serving. Serve with lime wedges on the side.

Ingredients

4 to 6 portions

- 250 g (8 oz) medium-width rice vermicelli noodles
- 75 ml (1/3 cup) fresh lime juice
- 50 ml (1/4 cup) each ketchup and canola oil
- 30 ml (2 tbsp) soy sauce
- 15 ml (1 tbsp) granulated sugar
- 750 ml (3 cups) cooked chicken breast, sliced into strips
- 500 ml (2 cups) bean sprouts
- 250 ml (1 cup) each thinly sliced carrot, celery and red pepper
- 50 ml (1/4 cup) each chopped fresh cilantro leaves, green onion and chopped peanuts (optional)
- Lime wedges

The word 'nature' conjures feelings of healthy bites. But it doesn't lower calories, fat and sodium.

Equivalent

One Lick's Nature Burger on a regular bun with cheese is equal in fat to five Cultures grilled veggie wraps .

Lick's Gobbler on whole wheat bun with Guk Sauce

Clearer, cleaner, greener televisions

Home entertainment. Consumer demand for eco-friendly theatre screens is on the rise and for a little more up front you can get them

green@metronews.ca

For years, televisions have been getting bigger, clearer and sharper. It turns out they're becoming greener too.

"It's become the socially right thing for manufacturers to do," says Bob Hana, managing director of HDliving.com. "I think they've also found that it helps their profitability as well, as they start to move off of unrecyclable materials or move into different technologies."

Consumer demand for eco-friendly home entertainment is growing. But it's still low on the priority list for most consumers, especially those yearning for huge, gorgeous home theatre screens.

You might pay a little more up front, but there are real savings to be had with LCD and LED TVs.

"They get it back on power savings," Hana explains. "They also, just by default, get it back on lifetime between failures. For instance, in a projector or even in your television, the LEDs last longer that the old fluorescent or high-intensity bulbs. So you're getting a longer life cycle, as well as lower power consumption."

An LCD television can run for 60,000 hours. At five hours a day, that's almost 33 years. That's a long time before anything has to be scrapped.

"Not very many years ago, you would put in an automated home entertainment system with unified remote controls and control panels in different rooms, and the kind of ugly, dirty secret was that your power bill would go up substantially," says Hana.

"It's not uncommon now to include a power-management device. Projectors have eco-modes now. When it's dark out, they don't have to be at their highest brightness. Manufacturers really do make a big point about it."

Hana doesn't recommend one brand of television over another. He says the move to cleaner and greener has happened organically, and is continuing to grow throughout the industry.

"The reality is that manufacturers are designing these things automatically anyway, so consumers are being green even though they may not want to be!"

That's an entire, big-ticket industry, working ahead of consumer demand for cleaner, more sustainable products, because they know the right time to act and change has already arrived.

"This is good stuff," Hana concludes. "And it is worth paying attention to — not only just for real, long-term cost savings, but just for the good of all of us. Every little installation helps."

LCD and LED TVs are getting a longer cycle life , which is helping keep our landfills a little less full. ISTOCK PHOTOS

Grilling up the biggest selection in the BBQ business

Ontario Gas BBQ.
Largest of its kind worldwide, store offers everything an outdoor chef could imagine

THE IN-CREDIBILITY FACTOR
Teresa Kruze
life@metronews.ca

Duff Dixon took on the big-box stores and emerged a winner. Today, with 51,000 square feet of grills, smokers, accessories and gadgets for the outdoor chef, Ontario Gas BBQ in Concord is the largest barbecue store in the world.

"It's a real feather in our Canadian caps — err, toques!" Duff says with a laugh.

The affable President and CBN (Chief BBQ Nerd) has weathered the storm of the recent world recession and off shore products taking away market share.

"It's always hard trying to stay ahead of the competition but I firmly believe if you enter into a category you must command and dominate it in your trading area."

Duff's advice to someone thinking about starting a new business?

"There are very few new ideas, just twists on what has worked in the past. If you think you know it all, you are wrong. Don't be afraid to ask for help and always trust your gut feeling. Your morals and your gut will tell you if it's the right thing to do or not."

Business tips

- Develop and pay your suppliers on time because they are your partners.
- Don't be afraid to hire someone to do something you don't do well (i.e. accounting or marketing).
- Don't be afraid to ask business associates for advice.
- When in doubt, go with your gut.

"I agree I do a mistake, but sometimes everybody do a mistake and I didn't feel it had to end like that, especially in a final."

David Nalbandian was disqualified from the Queen's Club final after injuring a line judge during the match on Sunday, giving Marin Cilic of Croatia the title. The 10th-seeded Argentine kicked the small barrier surrounding the line judge in anger after dropping his serve to the sixth-seeded Cilic at 3-3 in the second set. A piece of the barrier then hit the line judge, causing bleeding on his left shin. As a result, Nalbandian, who had been leading Cilic 7-6 (3), 3-4 when the incident occurred, defaulted the match.

Once again, a sideshow threatens to upstage an IndyCar race. Confusion reigned after Saturday's race in Milwaukee, when a mistaken penalty to driver Scott Dixon overshadowed a win by Ryan Hunter-Reay. Scan the code for the story.

Spain, Croatia deny fix is in

Nestor and Mirnyi win again

Canada's Daniel Nestor and partner Max Mirnyi of Belarus topped Bob and Mike Bryan 6-3, 6-4 in the doubles final of the Queen's Club tournament Sunday, beating the American twins for the second straight week.

The top seeds backed up their French Open win eight days ago on clay in Paris. Nestor and Mirnyi will be top doubles seeds when Wimbledon begins on June 25.

Star attraction lives up to billing as Portugal advances

Netherlands slumps out. Ronaldo's two goals end Dutch's championship hopes, while Germany finishes atop Group B

Portugal and Germany advanced to the European Championship quarter-finals Sunday, with the tournament's star attraction finally coming alive.

Cristiano Ronaldo scored twice, and saw two shots strike the post, in an outstanding display as Portugal came from behind to win 2-1 against the Netherlands. The 2010 World Cup finalist exited Euro 2012 after three straight losses.

Germany also progressed as Group B winner, beating Denmark 2-1 to complete a perfect three-win record.

Portugal will play the Czech Republic in the first quarter-final in Warsaw on Thursday. "Now, everything is possible," Ronaldo said.

Germany faces Greece in Gdansk on Friday for a match with political overtones as Euro 2012 plays out amid a financial crisis in the eurozone.

Ronaldo arrived at Euro 2012 amid doubts over his record at major tournaments, despite a prolific scoring season with Spanish champion Real Madrid.

The Portugal captain disappointed in his first two matches in Ukraine — and gave an emphatic response Sunday.

"Ronaldo got so much criticism in the last game and he is back now," Netherlands coach Bert van Marwijk said. "That is how fast things can change."

The Dutch took an 11th-minute lead, chasing the two-goal victory they needed to have any chance of advancing. Captain Rafael van der Vaart scored with a curling left-foot shot.

When Ronaldo's shot five minutes later brushed the outside of a post, his rueful expression suggested he still lacked confidence.

His defiant swagger returned after scoring in the 28th, timing his run perfectly before slotting the ball past Netherlands goalkeeper Maarten Stekelenburg.

Portugal then dominated against a lineup set up to attack and struggling to defend.

Ronaldo scored the winner in the 74th, calmly finishing off a rapid counter-attack. He was denied a hat-trick when a 25-metre shot rebounded back off the post.

Germany was always favoured to progress from the toughest Euro 2012 group, yet endured a nervous spell in the second half before securing its place in the last eight.

Lukas Podolski, playing his 100th international game for Germany, scored in the 19th minute in Lviv, finishing a chance created by Thomas Mueller and Mario Gomez.

Denmark equalized within five minutes, as Michael Krohn-Dehli rose in a crowded goalmouth to nod in Nicklas Bendtner's headed pass.

The Germans restored order in the 80th minute when stand-in defender Lars Bender scored from a pass by Mesut Ozil into the heart of the Danish penalty area.

Rasmus powers Jays to sweep of Phillies

MLB. Pitcher Brett Cecil gets victory in first start of the season with Toronto

Pitcher Jason Frasor gestures in the ninth inning Sunday in Toronto. AARON VINCENT ELKAIM/THE CANADIAN PRESS

Hitting second in the order certainly appears to suit Colby Rasmus.

Rasmus hit a two-run homer, Brett Cecil won for the first time in almost a year and the Toronto Blue Jays beat the Phillies 6-2 Sunday to complete a three-game sweep.

Rasmus went 3 for 4 with three RBIs, scored twice and came within a triple of the cycle as the Blue Jays swept the Phillies for the second time in team history; they also swept a three-game series at Philadelphia in 2009.

"To get a sweep is a good, positive thing," Rasmus said.

The key player acquired by Toronto in a three-team trade with St. Louis and the Chicago White Sox last July, Rasmus is batting .356 with seven homers and 18 RBIs in 15 games in the two-hole this season. He hit just .211 in other spots in the order.

Rasmus was one of 13 Blue Jays whose dads were flown in for a special Father's Day celebration.

"It was important to me," Rasmus said. "It's always good having your dad in town."

Slumping Philadelphia, last in the NL East, lost for the 12th time in 15 games.

Starting for the first time this season after being promoted from Triple-A Las Vegas last week, the left-handed Cecil (1-0) allowed two runs and five hits in five innings. He walked one and struck out five.

"My curveball has gotten a lot better, it's a lot tighter," Cecil said. "That, and being able to control the ball a lot better with all my pitches and throwing to both sides of the plate."

Cecil went 4-11 in 20 starts last season, then struggled with command and velocity this spring after losing more than 30 pounds in off-season conditioning. He was demoted to Double-A on the final day of spring training, one day after a rough outing against Detroit. He hadn't won since last July 29 against Texas.

Golf. Webb Simpson emerges U.S. Open winner at 'graveyard of champions'

Webb Simpson won the U.S. Open and put two more names into the graveyard of champions.

Overlooked for so much of the week, Simpson emerged on a fog-filled Sunday at the Olympic Club with four birdies around the turn and a tough chip out of a hole to the right of the 18th green that he converted into par for a 2-under 68.

He finished at 1-over 281, and it was enough to outlast former U.S. Open champions Jim Furyk and Graeme McDowell. Furyk bogeyed two of his last three holes. McDowell had a 25-foot birdie on the 18th to force a playoff, but it never had a chance.

"Oh, wow," Simpson said, watching from the locker-room.

Olympic is known as the "graveyard of champions" because proven major winners who were poised to win the U.S. Open have always lost to the underdog. One of those was Arnold Palmer in 1966, when he lost a seven-shot lead on the back nine.

No one was beaming like Simpson, who followed a breakthrough year on the PGA Tour with his first major.

No one was more disgusted than Furyk, in control for so much of the final round until he snap-hooked his tee shot on the par-5 16th hole to fall out of the lead for the first time all day, and was unable to get it back. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

James driving Heat closer to NBA title

Halfway to a title, LeBron James shows no sign of letting this one get away.

James had 29 points and 14 rebounds, and the Miami Heat took a 2-1 lead in the NBA finals with a 91-85 victory over the Oklahoma City Thunder on Sunday night.

Dwyane Wade had 25 points, seven rebounds and seven assists for the Heat, who were in this same position through three games last year, then didn't win again against the Dallas Mavericks.

James' poor performance was part of the problem then, but he seems on top of his game this time. His 3-pointer sent the Heat to the fourth quarter with the lead, and building just enough cushion to hold off another late flurry by the Thunder.

Game 3

Game 4 is Tuesday night.

Kevin Durant had 25 points for the Thunder, but picked up his fourth foul in the third quarter and had to go to the bench when they had seemed to have control of the game. Russell Westbrook finished with 19 points.

The Heat survived their own fourth-quarter sloppiness by getting enough big plays from their Big Three.

James scored 30 and 32 points in the first two games, his two best finals performances. He fell just shy of another 30-point effort but reached 20 points for the 20th time this post-season, two shy of Wade's franchise record set in 2006.

"It's all about chemistry," James said. "We understand where we like to get the ball, what we like to do in close situations, and it's good to see us execute down the stretch. But more importantly it was great to see we were able to get stops." THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cuts hit home for Argos rookies

The harsh reality of professional football was driven home this weekend to Argos rookies Armond Armstead and Derrick Summers.

The young defensive linemen's chances of sticking with the team increased with the surprise release on Saturday of veteran defensive tackle Claude Wroten, who started all 18 games last season. Armstead and Summers are likely battling for the same spot with a few others candidates with one pre-season game left. Both have had solid training camps.

GM Jim Barker made eight cuts, including Armstead's roommate, offensive lineman Jonathan Pierre-Etienne. Another 19 will be made after Tuesday's final pre-season game against the Montreal Alouettes at the Rogers Centre. Neither Armstead nor Summers have ever been cut. Neither wants to experience that pain, although they realize it's part of the business. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Horoscope

Aries | March 21 - April 20. You may be tempted to make a decision about your family life that will mean many major changes over the next 12 months. Wait.

Taurus | April 21 - May 21. Take extra care when dealing with money. The approaching new moon may tempt you to take the kind of risks that you would usually strive to avoid

Gemini | May 22 - June 20. Other people may be dragging their feet and making life difficult for you but there's good news too.

Cancer | June 21 - July 22. You may have been feeling vulnerable of late but when the Sun moves into your birth sign on Wednesday your confidence will return with a vengeance.

Leo | July 23 - Aug. 22. When the Sun changes signs the day after tomorrow you will be more concerned with inner issues than what is going on in the world around you

Virgo | Aug. 23 - Sept. 22. You may feel that a change of direction is necessary, and you may be right, but don't make it anything too drastic.

Libra | Sept. 23 - Oct. 22. A change of direction is very much on the cards – if you're decisive.

Scorpio | Oct. 23 - Nov. 21. Major decisions concerning your financial situation will have to be made over the next few days.

Sagittarius | Nov. 22 - Dec. 21. Even if you are the most logical Sagittarius who ever lived your emotions will lead you today.

Capricorn | Dec. 22 - Jan 20. If you don't want to come out and play today that's fine – you are under no obligation to socialize just because friends or work colleagues think you should.

Aquarius | Jan. 21 - Feb 18. You have achieved much in recent weeks, so don't spoil it now by taking silly risks

Pisces | Feb. 19 - March 20. One of the best times of the year is about to begin but it will be even better if you resolve a domestic situation that has been sapping your emotional energy for too long

Rasmus powers Jays to sweep of Phillies

MLB. Pitcher Brett Cecil gets victory in first start of the season with Toronto

Hitting second in the order certainly appears to suit Colby Rasmus.

Rasmus hit a two-run homer, Brett Cecil won for the first time in almost a year and the Toronto Blue Jays beat the Phillies 6-2 Sunday to complete a three-game sweep.

Rasmus went 3 for 4 with three RBIs, scored twice and came within a triple of the cycle as the Blue Jays swept the Phillies for the second time in team history; they also swept a three-game series at Philadelphia in 2009.

"To get a sweep is a good, positive thing," Rasmus said.

The key player acquired by Toronto in a three-team trade with St. Louis and the Chicago White Sox last July, Rasmus is batting .356 with seven homers and 18 RBIs in 15 games in the two-hole this season. He hit just .211 in other spots in the order.

Rasmus was one of 13 Blue Jays whose dads were flown in for a special Father's Day celebration.

"It was important to me," Rasmus said. "It's always good having your dad in town."

Slumping Philadelphia, last in the NL East, lost for the 12th time in 15 games.

Starting for the first time this season after being promoted from Triple-A Las Vegas last week, the left-handed Cecil (1-0) allowed two runs and five hits in five innings. He walked one and struck out five.

"My curveball has gotten a lot better, it's a lot tighter," Cecil said. "That, and being able to control the ball a lot better with all my pitches and throwing to both sides of the plate."

Cecil went 4-11 in 20 starts last season, then struggled with command and velocity this spring after losing more than 30 pounds in off-season conditioning. He was demoted to Double-A on the final day of spring training, one day after a rough outing against Detroit. He hadn't won since last July 29 against Texas.

Golf. Webb Simpson emerges U.S. Open winner at 'graveyard of champions'

Webb Simpson won the U.S. Open and put two more names into the graveyard of champions.

Overlooked for so much of the week, Simpson emerged on a fog-filled Sunday at the Olympic Club with four birdies around the turn and a tough chip out of a hole to the right of the 18th green that he converted into par for a 2-under 68.

He finished at 1-over 281, and it was enough to outlast former U.S. Open champions Jim Furyk and Graeme McDowell. Furyk bogeyed two of his last three holes. McDowell had a 25-foot birdie on the 18th to force a playoff, but it never had a chance.

"Oh, wow," Simpson said, watching from the locker-room.

Olympic is known as the "graveyard of champions" because proven major winners who were poised to win the U.S. Open have always lost to the underdog. One of those was Arnold Palmer in 1966, when he lost a seven-shot lead on the back nine.

No one was beaming like Simpson, who followed a breakthrough year on the PGA Tour with his first major.

No one was more disgusted than Furyk, in control for so much of the final round until he snap-hooked his tee shot on the par-5 16th hole to fall out of the lead for the first time all day, and was unable to get it back. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

James driving Heat closer to NBA title

Halfway to a title, LeBron James shows no sign of letting this one get away.

James had 29 points and 14 rebounds, and the Miami Heat took a 2-1 lead in the NBA finals with a 91-85 victory over the Oklahoma City Thunder on Sunday night.

Dwyane Wade had 25 points, seven rebounds and seven assists for the Heat, who were in this same position through three games last year, then didn't win again against the Dallas Mavericks.

James' poor performance was part of the problem then, but he seems on top of his game this time. His 3-pointer sent the Heat to the fourth quarter with the lead, and building just enough cushion to hold off another late flurry by the Thunder.

Game 4 is Tuesday night.

Kevin Durant had 25 points for the Thunder, but picked up his fourth foul in the third quarter and had to go to the bench when they had seemed to have control of the game. Russell Westbrook finished with 19 points.

The Heat survived their own fourth-quarter sloppiness by getting enough big plays from their Big Three.

James scored 30 and 32 points in the first two games, his two best finals performances. He fell just shy of another 30-point effort but reached 20 points for the 20th time this post-season, two shy of Wade's franchise record set in 2006.

"It's all about chemistry," James said. "We understand where we like to get the ball, what we like to do in close situations, and it's good to see us execute down the stretch. But more importantly it was great to see we were able to get stops." THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
